WR Going to Conference

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller will attend the National Republican Governors Conference Friday at Palm Beach, Fla., it was announced Monday. Rockefeller is expected back in Little Rock Sunday to attend a meeting of the state Board of Education. Rockefeller is to speak at Bentonville today at noon and at a Republican party dinner tonight at Harrison.

"SEVENTH HEAVEN" is the non-Marxist name of a restaurant high up on this reinforced concrete television tower rising 1,748 feet over Moscow's Ostankino District. The structure is nearly 300 feet higher than New York's Empire State Building with its antenna. The Soviets say clear television pictures from the tower's transmissions can be received up to 100 miles away.

Court Rulings Favor Unions and Workers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unions may hire lawyers to represent members in compensation cases, the Supreme Court ruled today.
 The 8-1 decision, given by Justice Hugo L. Black, rejected the idea that this amounts to unauthorized practice of law by the union.
 It specifically endorsed a plan used by the United Mine Workers in Illinois and the decision could serve to encourage similar arrangements by other unions, associations and church groups.

Democratic National Convention in Chicago if House Speaker John W. McCormack decides not to take the chairmanship.
 If McCarthy should be the lone entry on the Democratic primary ballot, delegates would be required under Massachusetts law to vote for him on the first ballot at the convention. After that, they could vote as they please.
 At this point, no one expects Johnson's name to be entered. But if it should be, Kennedy said the President "would run strongly."
 A fellow Minnesotan and long-time political associate of McCarthy, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, said meanwhile he doesn't believe the senator's decision to enter four or more primaries will split the Democratic party.
 Humphrey told an interviewer in Rochester: "I think a good debate on the subject matter of our foreign policy is not destructive. I think it can be a healthy thing."
 AFL-CIO President George Meany pledged Monday to support Johnson for re-election next year despite what he called the unpopularity of the war. His statement came in advance of Thursday's opening of the 14-million-member labor federation's convention in Miami Beach, Fla.

fixed-wing and 8 helicopter losses over North Vietnam and 215 fixed-wing and 420 helicopters in South Vietnam.
 The accidents-attribution category includes 828 fixed-wing craft — fighters, bombers and transports — and 727 helicopters.
 When asked about the heavy losses, the Pentagon counters that they're light in relation to World War II or Korean figures. Latest Air Force statistics show the U.S. is losing 2.18 planes per thousand sorties, or individual flights, below Korea's 3.5 per thousand rate and less than one-fourth of the World War II rate, 9.5 per thousand.
 The United States has suddenly lost large numbers to Communist surface-to-air missiles — 21 planes downed since last August compared with 39 in eight previous months.
 But in that period the Air Force and Navy have mounted intensified missions into the bustling Hanoi-Haiphong area defenses and, according to sources, the North Vietnamese have hurled 2,800 SAMs in response — more than matching the 2,000 missiles fired in two previous years.
 Sixty-six other U.S. fighter-bombers have been knocked down over the North since August when the administration approved a new batch of bombing targets. MIGs claimed nine in air-to-air encounters dating back to Aug. 23. The rest were brought down by waves of ground fire. The Hanoi area is infested with 223 antiaircraft gun positions ranging from 37mm all the way to 100mm.

Appeals Board Members Quit

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Col. Willard A. Hawkins, the director of the state Selective Service System, said Monday that two members of the Appeals Board for the federal Western District of Arkansas have resigned.
 Hawkins said Virgil Evans of Hot Springs and George Coldville of Paris has resigned and had been replaced by Alroy L. Puckett of Hot Springs and State Rep. Ray S. Smith of Hot Springs. Hawkins said both men resigned because of a regulation which prohibits persons who are more than 75 years of age or who have served for more than 25 years from serving on Draft Boards or Appeal Boards.
 First man to serve in the U.S. House of Representatives and later become president was James Madison

Father Holds 9 Hostages, Finally Seized

DETROIT (AP)—Two detectives seized the distraught father of a Detroit riot victim today as he emerged briefly from his fortress home where he had held scores of police at bay for 10 hours while locked inside with as many as nine people, some hostages.
 DETROIT (AP) — Police in bullet proof vests ringed a home on the West Side today, then stilled down to wait for relatives to talk the distraught father of a July riot victim into putting down two guns and ending a night long siege.
 "He's not molesting anyone and they don't seem to be afraid," said Police Inspector Charles Gentry as dawn broke over the section where Eugene Ector, 62, held scores of police at bay while locked inside his house with seven relatives.
 Gentry said Ector's relatives apparently were free to leave the house and two had left during the night. Nine were inside at one time.
 "Every now and then he fires a shot into the floor to show them the gun is loaded. But no one has been hurt," Gentry said.
 Ector triple-locked himself, two women and three children in the house at 3:30 p.m. Monday after firing several shots that drew scores of police.
 Armed with a larger pistol and an M1 rifle he fired several more wild shots during the night apparently into the walls and ceiling of the house, but opened the door briefly at midnight to admit four relatives who tried to talk him outside.
 Gentry said one of the relatives told him Ector was dozing fitfully with the guns in his hands and the keys to the doors in his pocket.

Group Would Increase River Depth

CLARENDON, Ark. (AP) — Jack Wolford, vice president of American Commercial Barge Line of Jeffersonville, Inc., was among those persons who spoke in favor Monday of increasing the depth of the White River to accommodate large barges.
 Wolford made the comments at a hearing conducted by the Army Corps of Engineers.
 Wolford said that if the depth of the river could be increased from 4 feet to nine feet the change could eventually result in 9,000 new jobs in the 19-county area of the river basin.
 It was also suggested the depth be increased to 12 feet to accommodate even larger barges.
 The engineer said that a cross-shaped lake would be formed by two dams shown in plans for the basin and that the level would be higher than it normally is.

Thai Minister Raps Fulbright

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman of Thailand said Monday that the U.S. government rightly believes that if the United States does not check aggression in Vietnam a "more devastating war" will follow and counted Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., among those who think otherwise.
 "The opponents, like Sen. Fulbright who supports segregation and who never votes for the rights of the colored people in the United States, think otherwise," Thanat said.

Tom Silvey Sues Four Persons

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — T. J. Silvey, superintendent of the Calico Rock School District, has filed a $600,000 defamation of character suit against four persons.
 Silvey said the four had made false statements about him and had abused the process of Izard Chancery Court to file a lawsuit July 19 seeking Silvey's removal.
 The suit against Silvey was dismissed Sept. 18 but the four filed a second suit two days later.
 Defendants are Ralph Terry and Fred Mason, members of the Calico Rock School Board, and Dr. and Mrs. Noel Copp.
 Silvey charged that the four had accused him of either stealing school funds or misapplying funds, causing a shortage for which he was responsible.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to Helen Help Us! in this newspaper.

TEEN HELPS CLOSE THE "GENERATION GAP"

Dear Helen: "What has happened to teenagers these days?" That question is often asked, and, as one of them, I can't answer it. Instead of taking up for my generation, I have to say that we aren't upholding the name "Teen" as we should. So many times we do and say things we know we shouldn't. We take advantage of our position instead of trying to make a better place in the human race for ourselves. We retreat when parents try to help us. We resent their help because it makes us realize they are superior. We are jealous of them, but, instead of being honest about it, we blame them when we go wrong, not admitting we were too "big" to take their advice.

My Dad always says, "You have to learn the hard way, don't you?" We know our parents are right, but we can't face it, in our eagerness to "show them."

My folks are grand. They help me in every way. They aren't too strict, as I hear so many kids say their parents are. They try to understand our generation and respect us. Even so, I'm hardheaded. I give them a bad time, and they love me just the same.

That's the bad side of teen. Now for the good: More than ever before, teenagers are participating, becoming a real part of America. You see fewer and fewer drop-outs. We like responsibility. We want to help people. We are intelligent and we want to be treated as persons, not oddities. If we rebel, we usually have a good cause, though sometimes we go overboard. You'd just surprised how straight teenagers are.

What I'm trying to say is, if you please ask anybody who's a teen, to tell her please adults will work with teenagers. Instead of knocking us down, then teens will try harder to do along with their advice. If they'll give us credit, we'll give them credit. Let's make this a better world after all. It's our chance.

Instead of the constant "yap" about the "Generation Gap" why don't we ALL work like the dickens to close it? It takes "give" on both sides. —CAROLE H.

Dear Carole: It certainly does take "give," also a great deal of mutual appreciation—and young people like you, who think straight, talk honestly and prove to adults that understanding and compromise from both sides can build a firm bridge over the "generation gap." —H.

Florida Full of Refugees

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Refugees from Cuba account for more than one-fourth of the Miami population.

The Cuban Refugee Center reported today that 85,000 of the city's 330,000 people are Cuban refugees. The report said that nearly 130,000 of the metropolitan area's more than 1,000,000 residents are refugees. Other estimates place the Miami area's Cuban population at 150,000 to 200,000.

More than 1,000 new exiles join the area's Cuban colony each month.

In trouble they got real mad. They said a lot of bad things. Janet told them it was just as much her fault as his, and she didn't want the boy to know because he was going to college and it was important for him to finish. They said he was all to blame.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Saint Joan," with almost all of Bernard Shaw's silken, caustic wit intact, arrived on NBC Monday night.

Robert Hartung's adaptation of the satire, which Shaw developed around the well-known legend of the 15th Century Maid of Orleans, was skillful. The production, like all "Hall of Fame" dramas, was rich and handsome. But most important, it was beautifully and effectively cast.

Genevieve Bujold, a newcomer to television in the United States, gave a truly memorable performance as Joan. First as an eager young girl with a God-given mission to lead an army and save France, and, finally, as a white-hot, sophisticated ghost refusing to hear her friends and enemies justify and defend the actions that carried her to the burning—and to sainthood.

Amid the fine performances of such theatrical giants as Maurice Evans as the fanatic heretic hunter, Raymond Massey as the urbane inquisitor and Roddy McDowell as the silly dauphin, Miss Bujold, a Canadian, was vividly effective.

The playwright's purpose was to examine, within the discipline of the Joan of Arc legend, the lengths to which men can be led by expediency, superstition and stubbornness. The movement of the drama from stage to tube lost none of Shaw's bite and cynicism. It was a fine two hours.

EMULATING U.S. surfers and motorcyclists, Tokyo youths have turned Nazi uniforms and emblems into a fashion fad. Here a construction worker considers using a German World War II helmet as safety headgear.

According to Dr. Alfred Auerback, associate clinical professor of psychiatry at the University of California... the marital ship sails best upon seven "C's": Communication, concern, cooperation, commitment, courtship, challenge and compromise.

This is understandable to us and we would even like to add to the "C's." A woman's appearance is among the most important things in her life and when she communicates to her husband and she shows concern and cooperates, she feels the challenge of courtship and commits herself to the compromise of choosing clothes that will make him constantly content. That is enough "C's" for any marital ship to sail on and on...

It may seem that we are taking advantage of an old cliché, but we have always found it true that... "the couple who shop together, stay together." If he doesn't like it, nine chances to ten, you won't like it... and the best thing to do is consult him before you wear it.

It is getting close to gift-giving time and we have suggestions... A party dress, one that will take her places from now on... A warm, luxuriously fur-trimmed coat... A knit suit, one with the long coat and dress, because they are so new... A one-piece knit dress to wear under a coat or early with flits... Some fine jewelry, pin and earrings to match, the glittery rhinestone one that look for the world like real diamonds... A robe for early morning wear that looks pretty enough to be seen in... These are just a few of our favorite things... Let us show you all at

Prescott Is Coming Here Tonight

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

As the basketball season goes into full swing, three representative teams from Hope High School take on their respective opponents from Prescott High School this evening at Jones Field House.

On the agenda for this Tuesday the fifth are three games, led off by a Jr. Boys contest, interlarded with the Sr. Girls battle, and the grand finale will present the Hope Bobcats and the Prescott Curley Wolves. Last year in the teams' only meeting the Bobcats squeaked by, 65-63, on a cold December night.

The Hope Bobcats will be entering their third game of the season, after two close defeats to Cale and Magnolia. Coach Caylord Solomon is trying to get his boys to their peak early, because a rough and tough conference schedule lurks in the future.

Coach Solomon will probably start with three 8th graders and two freshmen in his No. 1 quintet. Jumping center would be Lynn Norton, a lanky 8th grader with a lot of potential, and under the basket him will be fellow classmen Tim White and Bill Lee, both of whom will mature into fine performers with more experience.

Out front the Bobkittens will most likely be freshmen Ronnie Massanelli and Parker Powell, a cohesive pair that no one can take for granted. Prescott in the past has run from a pressing defense, with a couple of pop shooters ready and able to pop the sack from anywhere. It should be a good game.

Next comes the Lady Cats' game, as Charlotte Gibson's girls try to begin a new winning habit with a good victory. The Ladies should have no problem in beating Prescott, after taking an earlier 42-15 conquest a few weeks ago. And the Lady Cats will be rebounding from a disheartening 55-50 loss to Ashdown Saturday night.

The Lady Cats should begin with six seniors, including Carol Anthony, Gail Hartford, and Kathryn Coleman at forwards, and guards Nellie Churchwell, Kay Coleman, and Donna Byers. This crowd-pleasing squad should be ready to give their all in the second game tonight.

Surely we couldn't leave out the last bit of matters to settle for the evening, as the HHS and PHS teams come together for a real dilly. The Curley Wolves, however, will be missing two starters and fine ball players when they hit the court.

Ronnie White, the end whose 60-yard pass reception beat Hope in football 14-6, and Van Culpepper, another All-District football performer, were both injured in the last football game and are out for a good while. Nevertheless, Prescott still has punch, led by senior Mike Hill, a fine all-around player who participated at Emmet last year, the Wolves will leave mercy in the dressing rooms.

On the other side of the scorer's table will sit the Hope Bobcats, with a record of 1-1. Coach Joe Austin's probable starting lineup includes seniors Richard Sallee, Donnie Middlebrooks, Montie Garner, John Henley and Larry East, but any change wouldn't surprise, so expect anything.

There you have it, three games to be played this p.m. at Jones Field House. Since the games start a 6:00, you may miss some of the action, but sometime make it out to the high school and support the athletic program. Admission this year for basketball games is 75 cents for adults and 10 cents for students.

Sox Slugger Recovering From Injury

BOSTON (AP) — Tony Conigliaro, Boston Red Sox slugger whose career was nearly ended when he was struck near the left eye by a pitch last Aug. 16, is enthusiastic after three baseball workouts.

"My best day yet," Conigliaro said Wednesday after his batting and fielding drill in Harvard's indoor cage. "The vision in my left eye is very good. There were no blurs at all."

Tarnished UCLA Still Tops Poll

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

UCLA's reputation as an overpowering college basketball team was tarnished somewhat in its first game of the season, but the Bruins still managed to build a strong lead in The Associated Press' weekly poll.

The Bruins fell short of unanimous selection as the nation's No. 1 team in the initial poll of the regular campaign. They received 31 first-place votes in the balloting by a national panel of 33 sports writers and broadcasters.

Houston and Louisville, which placed second and third, respectively, each collected one vote for the No. 1 position.

Kansas was fourth, followed by North Carolina, Dayton, Purdue, Vanderbilt, Kentucky and Boston College.

UCLA, a unanimous choice as the top team in the preseason poll, accumulated 327 points in the voting announced today. Houston had 259 and Louisville 250 on a basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc.

The Bruins, unbeaten in 30 games last year when they won the national championship, just managed to defeat Purdue 73-71 on Bill Swee's last-second field goal in the opening game for both teams Saturday night. UCLA star Lew Alcindor was held to 17 points by the Bollermakers.

Houston beat Sacramento State 110-79 and Louisville trounced Georgetown, Ky., 118-86, in their openers.

Kansas, fifth in the preseason poll, advanced to fourth after routing Utah State, 84-55. North Carolina, No. 4 in preseason estimates, downed Virginia Tech, 89-76.

Dayton whipped Northern Michigan 78-61, Vanderbilt opened by downing Southern Methodist 88-84 in overtime and

LSU Player Scores 42 in Victory

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The family that sort of plays together stays together.

Press and Pete Maravich don't actually play together, but they are staying together in an effort to achieve a common goal — winning basketball games for Louisiana State.

Father Press coaches the Tigers; son Pete plays for them, and he plays in a big way.

Pete scored 42 points Monday night as LSU ran its record to 2-0 with an 87-74 victory over Texas at Austin, Tex. The 6-foot-5 sophomore poured in 48 in a 97-81 triumph over Tampa Saturday night.

Only two members of the Top Ten—Houston and Vanderbilt—saw action Monday night.

Second-ranked Houston, 2-0, led Abilene Christian by only two points, 36-34, at halftime in Houston, then the Cougars ran wild for a 90-75 victory. All-America Elvin Hayes scored 33 points and grabbed 21 rebounds for Houston. John Ray Godfrey led Abilene Christian with 29 points.

No. 8 Vanderbilt, 2-0, got 28 points from junior Tom Hagan, eight of them on foul shots in the last two minutes, to beat Auburn 78-65 in a Southeastern Conference game at Nashville, Tenn.

Highly regarded Virginia Tech suffered its third defeat in as many starts, a 92-70 trouncing at Alabama.

Junior guard Rich Travis broke an Oklahoma City Field House record by scoring 52 points in leading Oklahoma City past North Texas 97-78.

Adolph Rupp's Kentucky Wildcats scored their second victory as five players hit for double figures in a 99-76 Southeastern Conference victory over Florida at Lexington, Ky. Thad Jaracz was high for Kentucky with 23.

Two free throws by Dave Clark with 58 seconds left helped Georgia Tech to a 77-74 triumph over Southern Methodist at Dallas.

Other action included: Iowa topped Southern Illinois 61-49, Ohio State beat Florida

THE EDUCATION OF A TIGHT END found Ted Kwalick of Penn State, chosen to the NEA All-American team this year, lining up against Dave Robinson, an all-pro line-backer for the Green Bay Packers. In a mock scrimmage, Robinson was also an All-American end at Penn State before graduating to the pros.

Porker Will Make Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — Earl "Greasy" Neale, one of football's all-time great coaching personalities, let out a personal secret today—the modern pro game leaves him cold.

"Oh, I enjoy watching them play all right; you can't drag me away from the television set on Sundays," said the gray-haired, 76-year-old stern disciplinarian of another era.

"But they block like a bunch of high school kids. They don't have much desire. And there no longer is any trickery or imagination in the game. Everybody plays it just alike."

"The players—to them it seems to be just another job, like a man going to the office from 9 to 5. I don't see the spirit that was there in the old days."

Neale, an end, quarterback and fullback at West Virginia Wesleyan, coach at Little Washington and Jefferson and Yale and later the pro Philadelphia Eagles, will be inducted tonight into football's Hall of Fame, which also will honor 10 former athletes and 13 grid scholars.

It was Neale who took Washington and Jefferson to the Rose Bowl in 1922 and played California to a scoreless tie. He also coached Heisman Trophy winners Clint Frank and Larry Kelley at Yale, played alongside Jih Thorpe as a pro and took part in the 1919 baseball World Series as a Cincinnati outfielder against the Chicago White Sox.

He closed out his career with the pros, ending his coaching duties with the Eagles in 1950.

Dr. Frank Lawson Hovde, president of Purdue University, receives the Gold Medal, the National Foundation's highest honor, at the dinner tonight.

Players slated for induction are Dr. Abe Mickal, Louisiana State, Slade Cutter, Navy; Francis (Whitey) Wistert, Michigan; Paul Schweigler, Washington; Joe Hunt, Texas A&M; Wear Schooner, Arkansas; Herb Stein, Pittsburgh; Cecil Isbell, Purdue; and Nathan Dougherty, Tennessee.

John McKay, coach of the University of Southern California, will receive the MacArthur Bowl, given annually to the national college football champion.

State 76-69, Bradley trounced Sam Houston 102-63, and Texas at El Paso downed Pan-American 66-55 for home court victories.

Michigan outlasted Detroit 101-99, Drake whipped Minnesota 82-63, Maryland defeated George Washington 81-73, and Oklahoma edged Texas Christian 66-57 for road triumphs.

In the Far West, South turned back California-Santa Barbara 84-74, San Francisco downed Stanford 66-60, Santa Clara whipped Creighton 92-89, Brigham Young topped Texas Tech 72-58, Utah thrashed Colorado 95-84 and Miami, Fla., beat St. Mary's, Calif., 77-70.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Twenty-one schools will be represented by the 28 players on the West squad in the 43rd annual East-West football game Dec. 30 at Candlestick Park.

The selections were announced Tuesday by Ted Balliet, potentialist of Islam Temple, which sponsors the annual Shrine charity game.

With Gary Betan, UCLA All-American and Heisman Trophy winner at quarterback, the West will have three powerful runners in Lee White of Weber State College, Don Hass of Montana State, and Warren McVea of Houston.

For receivers the West will have Phil Oles, Brigham Young end and flanker who ranked first nationally in the college season, Haven Moses of San Diego State, and Joe Koonz, San Francisco State's record touchdown receiver.

At quarterback, Betan will have capable support in Danny Holman of San Jose State and Bob Lee, the powerful kicker from the University of the Pacific.

The defensive squad will include star linebackers Skip Vandenberg of Oregon State, Mike Swatman of Kansas, and Ed Mooney of Texas Tech.

Defensive backs include a couple of the Smith boys—Jim of Oregon and Bob of California, along with Harry Chestnut of Oklahoma State and Neal Starkey of All Force.

Curley Culp of Arizona State, Blaine Nye of Stanford, Steve Thompson of Washington and Cam Meltzer of Oregon will make up a powerful front four.

The West squad will arrive in San Francisco Dec. 20 and will train at Stanford University under coaches Ben Martin of All Force, Don Andros of Oregon State, and Ray Wilsey of California.

Purdue Star Suffers a Foot Injury

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Purdue's Rick Mount, who made his college basketball debut with a 28-point performance against national champion UCLA, will play with a steel inni sole in his shoe at least until Christmas.

The former Lebanon High School star suffered a crack in a bone on his left foot Oct. 27 and missed four weeks of practice.

"The foot is healing but it feels sore," he said. "It bothers me when I run and try to make quick moves, especially when I try to cut to the left."

Mount said the foot is strong but just sore where the break is. "The doctors say the fracture isn't bad and that I can play if I can stand the pain," he said.

The stainless steel inner sole covers most of Mount's foot except the toes. He wears it for practice and games.

"But the steel doesn't bother me," he said. "And the doctors say I can probably take the sole off about Christmas."

During Thanksgiving vacation, he strengthened the foot by walking about five miles a day while hunting.

Mount, hitting 11 of 27 field goal attempts, called the Bollermakers from 67-55 defeat in the last six minutes. His free throw after a technical foul on UCLA tied the game 71-71.

Cyprus Head May Have Won Point

By CERALD MILLER
Associated Press Writer
NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — President Makarios appears to have won a striking diplomatic victory in the Cyprus crisis.

Despite pressure from the United States and the threat of a Turkish invasion, the Greek Orthodox archbishop who heads the government of Cyprus—and the Greek Cypriot majority—refused to bow to Turkish demands.

The general feeling is that Makarios called Turkey's bluff and won.

Makarios gave up almost nothing. The yielding came from Turkey and Greece. The archbishop accepted unconditionally only one point in U.S. envoy Cyrus Vance's original package—withdrawal of Greek and Turkish troops illegally on Cyprus. Technically he would have had no say on that anyway since they are the forces of another nation and not subject to his control.

Where the proposals touched on matters pertaining exclusively to his administration of Cyprus, he did not budge. These proposals were finally dropped.

Makarios said no to the Turkish demand that he disband his national guard. He said no to the Turkish demand that the Turkish Cypriot minority get the legal right to form their own police forces and governments inside their enclaves.

Makarios has doubts about enlarging the mandate of the U.N. peace force on Cyprus. According to Secretary-General U Thant's last peace appeal, this will be a matter of further negotiation.

Though Makarios scored a major diplomatic triumph, official circles in Cyprus don't think Turkey lost particularly.

Greece's agreement to withdraw an estimated 12,000 Greek troops was a big gain for the Turks, even though it wasn't everything Ankara demanded.

The only real loser seems to be the military dictatorship in Greece. The Greek government and not Makarios bowed to pressure and agreed to pull out its troops. The junta in Athens suffered a drastic loss of face among Greeks on Cyprus, and it may have trouble with the officers who return home from Cyprus.

Makarios is believed not unhappy to see the Greek troops go. And he is known to be relieved to get rid of Gen. George Grivas, the commander of all Greek forces on Cyprus and a potential challenger for the archbishop's power. Grivas was blamed for the battle which touched off the crisis, and the embarrassed Greek government recalled him to Athens.

Leaves Money for Elderly

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Before he died at the age of 85 in January, Leroy H. Vane was known as the "cycling carpenter" who rode his bicycle to odd jobs in the Haight-Panhandle district near Golden Gate Park.

On Monday the Bank of America disclosed that Vane, whose wife died in 1964, had left $425,000 in municipal bonds and common stocks to his native San Francisco.

His will didn't insist upon it, but made plain he would like it if the city built a social center for the elderly in Golden Gate Park.

Vane's suggestion will receive every consideration, said Elvin Stendell, president of the Recreation and Parks Commission.

Letters to the Editor

WILLING WORKERS

Editor the Star: The other day we had a "happening" — Hope style — at my home. From all parts of town, in all kinds of vehicles, wearing all manner of workaday apparel, they came — teenage guys and gals with flushed and eager faces. They brought rakes, yard brooms, boxes and enthusiasm, and they attacked a whole season's accumulation of dead leaves with a gusto wonderful to behold. Some swept, some picked up piles, some tended fires — and in less time than I would have believed possible my whole yard was clean and tidy. Thanks to some 12 to 15 representatives of the Hope High School senior class, that is.

In case anyone has failed to notice, there have been many such "happenings" around town these past few weeks, and there are apparently going to be many more. Young people — the cream of all four high school classes — are offering their services to the community each Saturday in unprecedented ways. They will wash your car, clean out your attic, rake and burn yard refuse, relieve you of papers and magazines which need discarding, and probably handle any other chore you don't feel like tackling alone. And they are sacrificing their one free day in this way simply to help make Christmas a bit merrier for the needy in our area. I have never forgotten that had it not been for the local Lions Club and their annual Christmas baskets my family would have spent a pretty bleak and giftless Yuletide our second year in this country. It is chiefly to aid such a program that the students are donating so much time and energy.

As someone who is sick and tired of the amount of press coverage the hippies and other social freaks receive, I do not believe we can pay enough public tribute to our Hope young people. I do not believe, furthermore, that we can encourage and support them as much as they deserve. Why we persist in taking their normality so for granted mystifies me. In the teenage frame of reference it takes real guts to be a worker, a builder, a "square" — in short, a good and conscientious citizen. And, as has been said before (yet needs constant restatement), we should be truly thankful that the quality of local youth remains so high. I don't despair of their generation. In fact, as a long-time champion, nothing infuriates me more than hearing them "knocked." Ninety-eight percent of the nation's teenagers should not be made to suffer for the sins of the minority group, and there are still some of us who pin our faith and hopes on that 98 percent.

Citizens of Hope, please respond increasingly to the rare and wonderful offer your young people are making. It is always a heartening sight when someone is willing to roll up his sleeves and work hard, without personal advantage, for a worthy cause. The spirit is lifted and life seems infinitely better. Your high school boys and girls are wishing us all "Merry Christmas" in the truest spirit of the season.

May their tribe increase! Sincerely,
DAVID PEARSON

ABC Official Likes Percy Over Reagan

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — William Lawrence, political director for the American Broadcasting Co., said here Monday night that if he were forced to choose the Republican's 1968 presidential nominee at the present time, he would select either Illinois Sen. Charles Percy or California Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Lawrence said he was convinced New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller would not run and that former Vice President Richard Nixon would have to produce an unbroken series of victories in the primaries to win the nomination. Lawrence said he felt that Michigan Gov. George Romney had made too many errors to capture the nomination.

Lawrence, a correspondent at the White House for five years, said he was not at all sure that President Johnson would seek re-election in 1968.

"If he doesn't run, it will be for a variety of reasons," Lawrence told an audience of about 3,000. "It will be because of his health, his frustrations of Vietnam, a real shortage of new ideas and a continuing erosion of the presidential staff."

Lawrence also said he felt that former Alabama Gov. George Wallace has surprising strength in the North.

"Wallace is a vested interest in catastrophe," Lawrence said. "He profits politically from the civil disorders."

Lawrence said Wallace would take away some of the Republican vote in the South and some of the Democratic vote in the North.

Former Gov. Orval Faubus, who was also on the Symposium '68 program, said that the purpose of the two-party system was to keep the party in power on its toes and that he thought this could be accomplished by the "ins and outs" of one party.

Faubus was asked about the state prison system and said that running the prison system correctly is one of the most difficult fields of government.

"I don't know of any state that has a perfect prison system," Faubus said. "It's one of the most difficult fields of government because you are dealing with the most imperfect people in our society. Many of them are bitter, disillusioned and warped in many ways..."

Students to Produce Play Independently

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Students at the Arkansas Arts Center indicated Monday night that they had been misled by the Arts Center Board's reason for postponing the play, "Of Prisons and Men," and that they would attempt to produce the drama independently.

The board of trustees of the Arts Center voted unanimously Monday to postpone the play, which depicts brutality in the state prison system.

The students said in a statement drafted by a five-member steering committee elected by the 63 students of the Arts Center that the board's "first fear was not a matter of legal position, but rather the loss of financial support by primary backers, who fear the repercussions of the controversy."

The statement said the students had thought originally that the board's decision to delay the production was based on its desire not to conflict with a case pending in Jefferson Circuit Court.

The statement said that the students could not trust the board's use of the words "delay" or "postponement" and that they feared the play would not be produced this season if it is delayed.

"We will continue, as a separate entity, disaffiliated with Arkansas Arts Center, to do everything in our power to have this play produced at the earliest possible date," the statement said. "We now direct a plea for backing from private interests and ask support from the general public."

Red Faces at Safety Meet

PITTSBURGH (AP) — There were some red faces Monday at the mayor's Highway Safety Conference.

The speaker asked for a show of hands of those who have seat belts in their cars. Almost every hand went up.

Then he asked how many use the belts. Less than half — perhaps a third — raised their hands.

President Has Learned Very Fast

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — He's been in politics 30 years and he learned young one of the very best ways to miss being the No. 1 man is to catch foot-in-mouth disease.

His mouth has been constantly open for 30 years but he has been very sanitary about it. He kept his feet away.

In time he became the No. 1 man. And in his early White House days President Johnson's mouth was constantly open, on television, in speeches, or in one way or another, always saying something.

He seemed to have a compulsion to say something in those early days on Pennsylvania Avenue until he was reminded often enough he was not a hit on television or as a public speaker.

He was too stiff, too often what he said spontaneously or from a prepared text was just corn. His television appearances grew less frequent and so did his wide-open news conferences.

Meanwhile he continued to see White House reporters frequently by calling them into his office to make a statement or answer questions. Then at a big news conference last Nov. 17 he found a method that really clicked.

Instead of staying glued, as he had so often in the past, to a fixed microphone on a fixed podium behind which he stood as fixed and stiff as a cigar-store Indian, he decided to try a microphone around his neck.

He was a new man, free to roam around, twist his head or wave his hands to make a point. Congratulatory telegrams poured in. He was delighted. This is probably how Johnson will do much of his talking in the future.

He talks fast but he has learned from his 30 years of public life not to be careless with the language which, through a clumsy or offensive word, could turn him into a laughing-stock or a political corpse.

But this long training in being careful is one reason why some of his news conferences could be done without, for some of them haven't meant much. Playing the cards close to your chest is

Camp Wants a New Name

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — People in Government Camp on the south slope of Mt. Hood have asked the Oregon Geographic Names Board for a new name.

Residents of the ski resort town complain that the name attracts out-of-state residents who pitch their tents on private property in the summer and refuse to move, arguing that a government camp is public property.

And they say the name turns away skiers who think it is some kind of federal preserve.

Two suggested names are Barlow Road and Summit.

not the best way to give information.

A good example was the sudden conference Monday with White House reporters. He called them into the Cabinet Room to announce he had named a new Marine Corps commandant, Lt. Gen. Leonard F. Chapman Jr.

After revealing that he sat back to give very unrevealing answers to reporters' questions.

One example was a question about the tax increase he wants from Congress. What he said, in effect, was that he thinks it's necessary, which is what he had said a dozen times before. Another question was about his fellow Democrat from Minnesota, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, who is setting out to try to frustrate Johnson's chances for renomination in 1968 by entering some presidential primaries.

Johnson's answer was another banality: That he thinks anyone has a right to try for anything he wants to run for.

And so on. There is something to be said for the kind of vacuity Johnson left behind him Monday. From his long training he has probably decided he won't be nudged into clamor on McCarthy until he thinks the time and the occasion are right.

Fulbright Also Opposes a Tax Increase

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., Monday joined with the other members of the Arkansas Congressional delegation in opposing President Johnson's proposed ten per cent surcharge tax.

Fulbright told delegates to the 20th annual meeting of the Arkansas Electric Cooperative that he wouldn't vote for the proposed tax unless there is a reduction in domestic spending.

During a question and answer session, Fulbright said "The Bay of Tonkin Resolution was a great mistake, as far as I'm concerned."

"I made a mistake in voting for the measure and apologize," Fulbright said. He said some congressmen thought the measure would shorten the war, but in effect he said it widened it.

Fulbright said that even if the U.S. "polarized" Hanoi and Haiphong and the Chinese didn't enter the war, the Vietnamese of the south would continue to fight.

Can't Agree on What He Really Is

By KAY BARTLETT
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Boo Hoo says he's a minister. The Army says he's a buck private. And the American Civil Liberties Union says it is going to help Benjamin L. Osterberg try to become Uncle Sam's first psychedelic chaplain.

The 22-year-old Osterberg drafted in October, is Boo Hoo — leader — of the Pensacola lodge of the Neo-American Church, an organization which considers mind-expanding drugs sacramentals.

Osterberg, bearded before he marched off to camp at Fort Benning, Ga., a month ago, conducted his services on a bluff overlooking Pensacola Bay and at his home, "The All Night Harmonica Shop."

His congregation usually showed up in Mexican blankets, bare feet and blue jeans to eat green spaghetti and play with balloons.

A slender, intense youth, Osterberg contends he is a minister and meets the Army's qualifications for chaplains. The Army says he doesn't and says it doesn't recognize the Neo-American Church, a spokesman for the ACLU said.

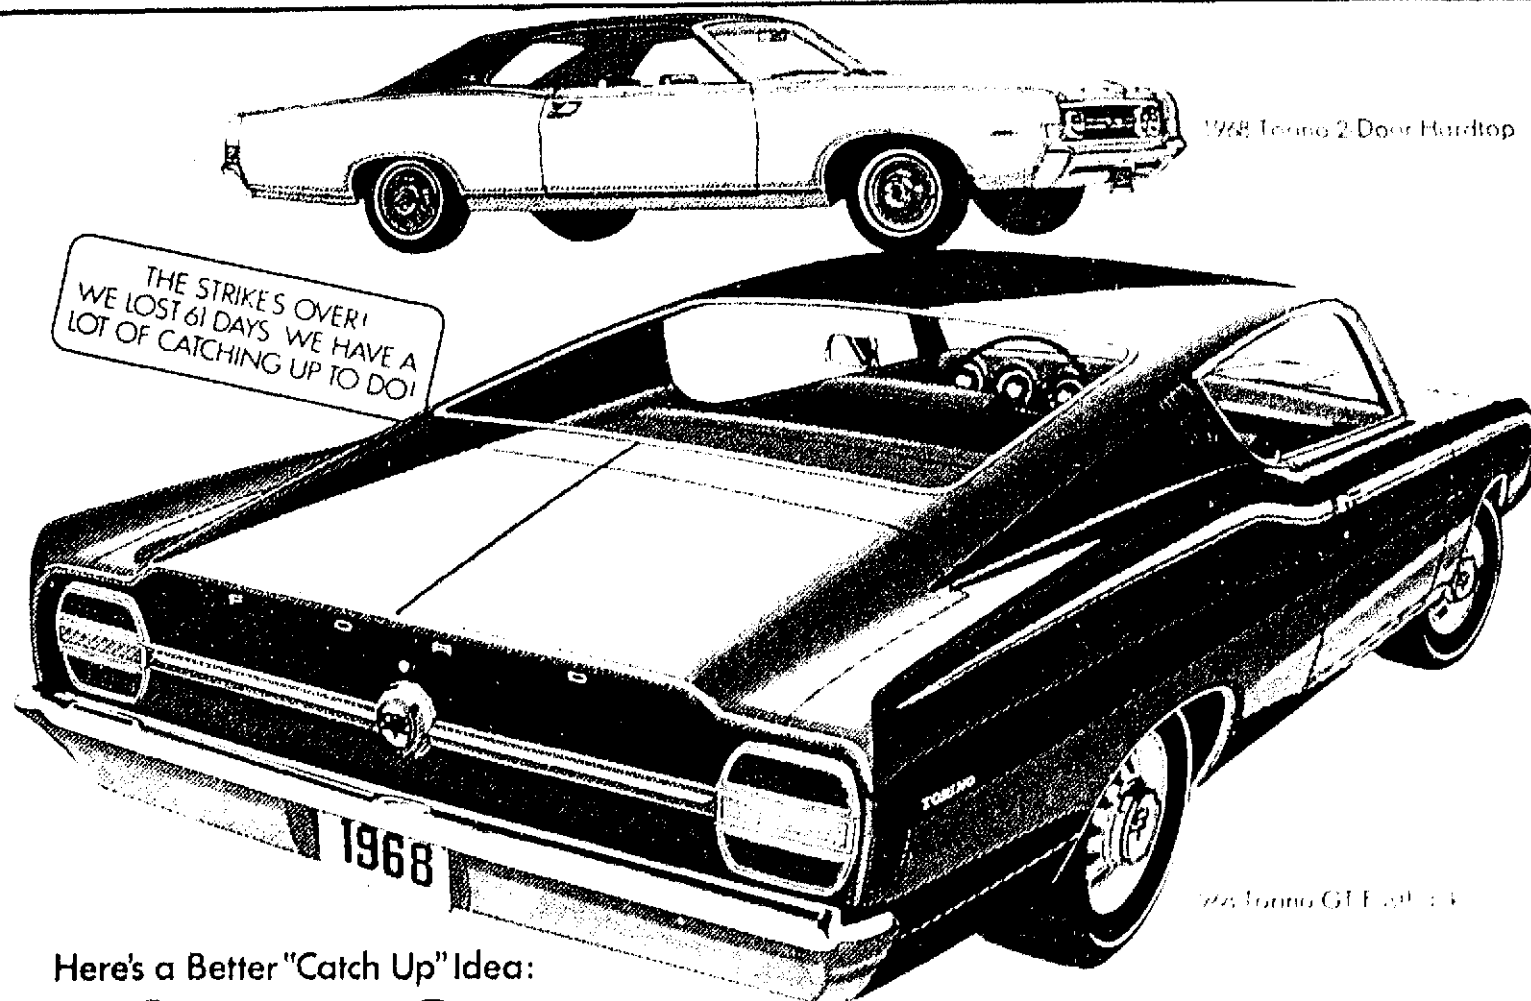

The church claims there are over 600 members across the country in congregations they call lodges.

Osterberg, who has been thrown out of two junior colleges, says he is the "primate of northwestern Florida" for the hippie religion.

He has been leading the Pensacola hippies for more than a year and publishes a weekly newspaper, called "Mouth Organ," which asks members to contribute to the "morning glory seed bank."

Observers in Pensacola estimated that there were some 50 persons in Osterberg's lodge. He says his immediate superior is Chief Boo Hoo Arthur Kleps of Cranberry Lake, N.Y.

The ACLU met here Wednesday night and voted to seek help for Osterberg from its Atlanta and national offices. A local spokesman said the case probably would be handled by the Atlanta ACLU office.

Busing Ban Slows School Aid Measure

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen's proposal to ban use of federal funds for busing students to overcome racial imbalances in schools is stalling Senate consideration of a giant school aid bill.

The Senate took three votes on the amendment Monday night, settled two of them by ties, and ended up right where it started.

The amendment and a modification of it proposed by Sen. Robert P. Griffin, D-Mich., are back before the body today.

Dirksen indicated he would say more before the question is settled. Indications in Monday's third roll call were that he would end up on the losing side.

Also waiting action before final passage of the bill were some equally controversial amendments by Southern senators.

They supported Dirksen but his proposal did not go to the heart of matters they are concerned about.

Their amendments would tie the hands of the Health, Education and Welfare Department in issuing desegregation orders.

The $14.2 billion bill would extend for three years the Elementary and Secondary School Act and other important federal education aid programs.

Dirksen, in offering his amendment, pointed out it already is illegal for HEW to require busing of students to achieve racial balance in schools as a condition for receipt of federal aid.

He said Congress should go a step further and prohibit use of any federal money for this purpose.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., floor manager for the bill, denounced the amendment as "federal control of the grossest kind."

Morse insisted that Washington should remain neutral on the issue, allowing local school districts to use the money for this kind of busing if they wanted to.

Griffin agreeing with Morse, then proposed a modification of Dirksen's amendment, adding to it language to permit busing if this was decided on by a state or local education board without pressure from HEW.

Dirksen roared this would "gut my amendment" and called for its defeat.

Griffin's rider did lose 38 to 33 on the first vote. However, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., who supports it, walked into the chamber immediately after the vote.

Kennedy moved to reconsider the vote. Dirksen sought to kill this with a failing motion, but lost 39 to 39.

The vote then came on Kennedy's motion. It was adopted 40 to 38, bringing the Griffin proposal back for another test.

Discussion of Issues on Vietnam Could Cool Demonstrations

Antiwar Protests Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Scores of antiwar demonstrators were arrested today as 1,000 persons marched on the Whitehall Street induction center in New York City in an attempt to close the center.

Police reported almost 200 persons seized by 7 a.m., including Dr. Benjamin Spock, the baby doctor and pacifist, who headed the marchers as they trekked from Battery Park to the center in lower Manhattan.

Those arrested did not resist. They were seized after they sat down on the sidewalk in front of the door to the center and after sitting down in the street to block police traffic.

All other vehicles were blocked off from the area and 1,500 police were on standby as the sponsors expected as many as 5,000 persons by mid-morning.

Poet Alan Ginsberg was among those arrested.

The protest marked the second day of a week-long effort aimed at disrupting local induction centers.

More than a score of cities around the nation saw demonstrations ranging in size from fewer than 40 persons to about 500.

Some Areas Can Get Business Loan

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Chris W. Ferguson, regional director of the Small Business Administration, said Monday that businessmen in 24 Arkansas counties who can show they suffered an economic setback this year due to a slowdown in business or an unusually high amount of accounts receivable are eligible for loans from the SBA.

The Agriculture Department declared in August that 24 counties in Arkansas qualified as disaster areas because of adverse weather conditions which caused the farmers in the counties to have a poor crop year.

The counties involved are Clay, Craighead, Crittenden, Cross, Desha, Drew, Greene, Independence, Jackson, Lawrence, Little River, Lonoke, Miller, Mississippi, Monroe, Phillips, Polk, St. Francis, White and Yell.

Efficiency Group to Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Governmental Efficiency Study Commission will meet today at Little Rock to begin work on reducing 600 pages of recommendations to a final report of about 150 pages. The recommendations concern savings in state government.

Treasury Has No Plan to Force France to Pay $6.8 Billion Debt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury officials say no move is afoot to demand repayment of France's $6.85 billion World War I debt as urged by Rep. Lester Wolff, D-N.Y.

Wolff's demand for new U.S. attempts to collect the French debt came in the wake of President Charles de Gaulle's call last week for a worldwide gold standard. At the same time the French leader criticized what he called a U.S. attempt to control European industry through investments.

Treasury officials said political and the world economic system prevent the United States from demanding the principal and interest France still owes this country from World War I. They said no moves have been made to collect it and none are anticipated.

The debate over the French debt is not new. It was lively a few years ago when France announced her policy to buy at least $31 million in U.S. gold monthly. She bought more than $1.48 billion in gold during 1965 and 1966 but has purchased none since September 1966.

U.S. officials noted that France is only 1 of 17 countries which still owe the United States money from World War I and said it would be wrong to single out the French for payment when the United Kingdom owes more—$9.76 billion.

They also said the only real weapon to enforce the demand would be refusal to sell gold to France, a move they claimed would shake confidence in the dollar and undermine the present world money system.

France has made repayments on her World War II and post-war debts, the latest a $70.8 million advance in September 1966. She now owes about $300 million on this debt, having repaid about $1.85 billion since 1947.

As of last June 30 the 17 World War I debtors owed the United States $21.35 billion in principal and interest. Only Finland was current in her payments.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says discussion of Vietnam issues such as Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., plans in presidential primaries may help cool violent student antiwar demonstrations. Kennedy, a Massachusetts Democrat who has criticized some aspects of President Johnson's Vietnam course, said in an interview he regards McCarthy's plan to enter several primaries as keyed to promoting a debate on war issues rather than a serious bid for the presidential nomination.

McCarthy has said he will enter the April 30 Massachusetts primary. But Kennedy said he wants to see what happens before the filing deadline in late March before he makes any predictions about voting in his home state.

"I expect President Johnson to be renominated and I will do everything I can to help him get re-elected," Kennedy said. However, he has already ruled out the possibility that he would become a Massachusetts primary stand-in for the President.

Although he is not as vigorous a critic of Johnson's Vietnam position as McCarthy, the Massachusetts senator took the same position as his brother, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., that it will be a good thing to have widespread debate on war issues.

"I have been distressed about the student demonstrations which have brought violence," he said. "Hopefully, this kind of debate will take the issue away from the extremists and other elements who promote violence and put it in the ballot box. That would be a worthwhile accomplishment."

Kennedy said that although he supports Johnson for re-election, he expects to continue to speak out on Vietnam policies when he believes the occasion demands it.

He said he does not intend to become involved in the primary campaign because he feels the voters of Massachusetts "are fully aware of my position on Vietnam and are perfectly capable of making their own judgments on the discussions that take place."

Kennedy is in line to head the Massachusetts delegation to the Annual Lions Auction Will Start Tonight

The 18th annual Lions Club auction will begin Wednesday at 6 p.m. on KXAR. In the nearly two decades since it started the Lions Auction has been a community landmark. Everybody enjoys the fun of listening, bidding and buying. The proceeds have grown from a humble $600.00 over two nights to about $3,000.00 in three nights. Nearly everybody in town gets kidded or insulted some time during the auction and this year will be even more fun.

A special feature of this year will be "The Lion Hunt". KXAR will run hunting sequences similar to the recent radio Turkey Shoot. The big difference will be that no phone call will be made until after the shooting takes place. A call will be placed at random and if the person called can tell what they shot they will receive a gift valued from $1.50 to $5.00.

The Student Council has been working extremely hard for this year and it appears that nearly 10,000 cans of various canned foods will be added to what the Lions buy for the baskets. From 100 to 125 persons will receive baskets valued at $25.00 to $30.00 filled with food stuffs of many kinds.

Merchants will contribute about $2,500.00 worth of merchandise and services which will bring the full value and up. Listeners will find their items delivered to them in just a matter of minutes by Lion Express. Listen, bid and buy, you're bound to win... may be a prize but certainly the joy of helping others.

U.S. Admits to Loss of 2956 Planes

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Vietnam war has now claimed nearly 3,000 U.S. planes and helicopters—mechanical victims of enemy guns, sabotage, accidents or wear and tear.

The dollar loss amounts to more than $3 billion. It mounts higher daily in air operations reaching unprecedented levels. Already the amount of bombs dropped in North and South Vietnam exceeds all the American tonnage dropped in World War II.

The latest breakdown from the Defense Department—as of Nov. 30—listed 2,956 fixed- and rotary-wing aircraft losses in the war zone.

This includes 1,401 planes and helicopters destroyed by enemy action in the air or on the ground in North or South Vietnam, and 1,555 others lost to hostile action in other areas of Southeast Asia—Laos and Thailand—as well as to accidents and attrition.

The hostile class includes 758

LBJ Relying on Words, Not Action

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) President Johnson is apparently relying more on words than action so far to counter any threat of a wage-price spiral posed by impending hikes in steel prices.

Johnson was something less than vehement at a Monday news conference in reaction to the steel price boosts.

When a reporter said other prices usually follow when steel boosts its prices and asked whether Johnson planned any action, the President replied, "We have exercised such rights as we had in the matter."

But he added the administration will continue to urge labor and business to keep a damper on price and wage boosts.

Otherwise Johnson stood on what he called "our very strong-felt views" as stated Saturday by Gardner Ackley, his chief economic adviser.

Reacting to a price boost on steel sheets announced by U.S. Steel Corp. the day before, Ackley said it represented "another turn in the price-wage spiral" and called for enactment of the tax increase Johnson wants plus "more responsible behavior on wages and prices by both labor and management."

At almost the instant Johnson was talking about the steel situation with newsmen, Bethlehem Steel Corp. announced it was following U.S. Steel in boosting the base price of cold rolled sheets—used in the manufacture of autos and appliances—by $5 a net ton as of Dec. 15.

Johnson also was asked whether he was considering asking Congress for emergency wage and price controls as an alternative to his beleaguered proposal for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

"No such proposals are under consideration at this time," he replied. Then he added: "I say, nothing at this time."

The news conference developed with a prior announcement when reporters were ushered into the Cabinet Room at

Wilson-Johnson Talks May Bring New Moves Toward Vietnam Peace

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — The prospect of an early conference between President Johnson and Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain points to new moves toward opening Vietnam peace talks.

Wilson may discuss with Johnson the possibility of using an open-end truce in the fighting, including the bombing of North Vietnam, during the forthcoming holiday period to try to create a more favorable opportunity for starting talks.

In Vietnam the most important of the winter holidays is Tet, the Lunar New Year anniversary, which comes a few weeks after the new year in the Western calendar. A year ago Tet was the focus of major peace probing involving Johnson, Wilson and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin. Johnson told a Monday news conference, "Mr. Wilson will be welcome any time he chooses to come."

London reports also said the conference is still under consideration and that Wilson was interested in visiting Washington in January. Diplomats here predicted plans for a meeting would be announced soon.

U.S. officials privately professed great skepticism about the success of any peace probes at this time. They say they see no evidence Communist leaders in Vietnam are reconsidering their position—although some Washington authorities also believe Hanoi may soon be compelled to do so because of military reverses in the South and the bombing toll in the North.

The Johnson administration is preparing—probably in a few days—to ask the U.N. Security Council to move into the situation and see if it cannot get talks under way.

One interest of the United States, officials agree, would be to get the Security Council to invite North Vietnam and the National Liberation Front—political arm of the Viet Cong in the South—to send representatives to the United Nations to sit in on a debate on peace proposals.

State Department spokesmen still refuse to confirm officially that a Viet Cong-NLF representative recently expressed interest in coming to U.N. headquarters and the United States blocked his move. He would have needed a U.S. entry visa.

State Department spokesmen would say only that U.S. policy calls for supporting an invitation issued by the Security Council. That meant, officials agreed privately, the United States is opposed to allowing informal Viet Cong representation at the U.N. General assembly.

The appeal to the Security Council was urged on President Johnson Nov. 30 by an 82-0 vote of the Senate.

Terrorists Hit Village, Many Killed

By GEORGE ESPEK
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Hundreds of Viet Cong rampaged through a South Vietnamese village early today with flamethrowers and grenades, inflicting death and destruction, U.S. officials reported.

The U.S. Mission said latest reports indicated that about 30 persons were killed and 30 were wounded in Dak Song, about 130 miles northeast of Saigon.

First reports had said 300 persons were killed, which would have been the worst terrorist attack reported in the war. But Wilbur Wilson, the assistant director of U.S. civil operations in the area, said later reports indicated this figure "is much reduced."

Wilson said the latest report was about 20 dead and 30 wounded. He said 30 or 40 homes were burned down by the attackers, who were estimated to number about 400 guerrillas.

Wilson said he assumed the hamlet was inhabited by Montagnards, the mountain tribespeople who often fight under U.S. direction against the Viet Cong.

Dak Song is located in an area along the Cambodian border where there has been a large buildup of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops in the past few months. U.S. and South Vietnamese forces have had two big battles this month with Communist troops at Loc Ninh and Bu Dop, southwest of Dak Song and also near the Cambodian border.

Wilson said it had not been determined yet from intelligence sources what was behind the attack. But the Viet Cong often raid villages to show that the South Vietnamese government cannot provide complete protection.

Dak Song is a "new life" hamlet, which supposedly is sufficiently protected to be free of Viet Cong terrorism.

Pilkinton Is Backing Rebsamen

HOPE, Ark. (AP) — James H. Pilkinton of Hope, the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor last year, said today he wanted Little Rock businessman Raymond Rebsamen to run for governor and would start a "draft Rebsamen" movement if needed.

Rebsamen ran next to last in last year's seven-man race for governor in the Democratic primary.

"I can think of no better qualified man than Raymond Rebsamen of Little Rock," Pilkinton said in a statement. "He is one of the most unappreciated citizens in our state. I would like to see him run for governor in 1968."

"Anything WR could do either at home in Arkansas or in New York, Raymond could do better."

Pilkinton said the administration of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller was a "joke" and "is certain to go from bad to worse unless WR hires himself a $100,000 a year man to run the state government for him."

"However, we (the Democrats) are in no position to complain unless we can offer the people of Arkansas something better."

He said that while he liked and respected Jim Johnson and Orval Faubus, their "fool is hurting the Democratic party in Arkansas."

"I therefore hope that some outstanding Democrat will announce for governor early in January and begin to exert some leadership in the party," Pilkinton said.
